LEGISLATURE NOTES

T. B. W.

The opening ceremonies at the Fourth Session of the 10th Legislature of Alberta were unusually brilliant on Thursday afternoon last week. The seats of the mighty were gay with fashionable dresses on the women and sober respectability on the men. His Honor, Lieut. Governor J. C. Bowen was prevented from officiating and his place was taken by Chief Justice Horace Harvey, of the Supreme Court.

There was an almost full attendance of members, the one exception being Mrs. E. B. Thurston, M.L.A for Cypress, whose husband is ill and that prevented her form attending Chief Justice Harvey was attended by one of the most impressive and possibly the largest military escorts in history when he entered the chamber. The escort included officers in the Army, Navy and Airforce and among them was one General and a Brigadier. The speech from the Throne was read in a clear distinct voice and a note of humor was injected into the proceedings when the Chief Justice, who had a few months ago helped to adjudicate the Social Credit Bill of Rights ultra vires of the provincial Legislature, read the statement that: "My Government proposes to appeal to the Privy Council, (on the Bill of Rights the findings of the Supreme Court with respect to this important Legislation." Mr. Justice Harvey stressed the words in slower, louder reading, an dbroad grins swept the cabinet benches.

There has been widespread approval of the announcement in the Speech that the government proposes to drop the Social Service Tax which has won for itself such general disapproval all over the province

The features of the government's proposals dealing with agriculture will be of particular interest to the country districts. It is proposed to increase the number of District Agriculturalists and the staff of the District Home Economists. Negotiations are under way between the Provincial and Dominion Departments for a continuance of the Dominion-Provincial Farm Labor Agreements. Plans for the greater utilization of Provincial Agricultural Schools are being made

Outstanding in the proposals of the Government as revealed in the Throne Speech, are various Social Service Plans. In the field of Health Services stress is to be laid on Preventative Health serivces. Additional full-time District Health units will he established as quickly as qualified personel can be obtained. Vacancies will be filled, a training school will be established to provide facilities fo training physicians, puhlic health nurses and sanitary inspectors. A Red Cross Blood Donor's Service for the province will be implimented in agreement with the Canadian Red Cross Society.

Free medical and hospital care will be provided for in act amendments during the session for recipients of mother's allowanees and their depeadents, as well as for old age pensioners and blind pensioners. Better supervision of homes in which children are hoarded for care by the Child Welfare Department will be provided by ameadments to the act covering the service.

It is suggested that the government is prepared to take a larger share of the cost of Educati through substantially increased subsidies. As a help to solve the shortage of teachers problem it is proposed to provide free tuition for students enrolled in the one-year course at the Faculty of Education.

The item in the speech concerning Hon. W. A. Fallows much talked of highway program for $9,000,000 spent on roads is of special interest It reads as follows:

"In order to provide an adequate system of all weather highways and secoadary roads at the earliest possible date, my government proposes to accelerate its proviace wide program of highway construction and improvement as rapidly as men, materials and equipment will permit. You will be asked to approve substantially increased appropriations for this purpose. Larger appropriations also will he asked to enable my government to extend its program for the improvement of district and development roads and to provide increased financial assistance to municipalities for the construction and improvement of municipal roads."

Other highlights in the government's program for the present session are as follows:

Submission of this session of proposed Dominion — Povincial agreements on tax transfer, sharing of costs in southern irrigation projects protectioa of the eastea watershed of the Rocky Mountains.

Establishment of an animal pathology and nutritional laboratory as a benefit to agriculture.

Extension of rural electrification.

Revision of the program of studies in elementary schools.

Widespread promotion of the tourist industry.

THE Sport Spot

Monday, February 17th, the Jacks started a tour through the State of Montana, playing four games in all and winning the first three.

The first game Monday night was against the Helena "Mint Juleps' in the Central High School Gym in Helena. After a fast and nerve-wracking battle, the Jacks emerged on the top of a 56-47 score. The Helena quintet proved fast and able hall handlers but failed to find their own basket at the crucial moaents.

After a Tuesday nights rest the "Blackjacks"—er Jacks went on to Townsend, to engage in a two game total point series with the Townsend "Vets. In spite of the Terry twins, the Jacks went on to win both games 39—43 and 47—44. There is a possihility that this team will play in Raymond in the aear future.

Friday night the Jacks played their fourth and final game. The place, Anaconda; the score Anaconda 60, Jacks 33.

This we will have to see, and we may yet, as the RAAA has promised to try and get them to come up here after the playoffs, which by the way are scheduled to start about Monday

Friday night the local Vets journeyed to New Dayton for their first game this year. Perhaps because of overtraining, or other things, the Vets returned sadder, wiser and the possessors of the bottom half of a 44 to 11 score. The Vets assure me that the less said of this game the the better.

Monday aight the Jacks entertained the Cardston Maple Leafs at the Opera House but proved to be very unkind hosts, seading the Leafs home losera hy a score of 78--57. Future games with the Leafs are uncertain. With the playoffs so close, lack of time is a major element in this uacertainity.

Fans should make certain that they have their seats for Saturday nights game in the Opera House when the Magrath Lions are scheduled to meet the Jacks in one of their now famous battles.

Monday, Fehruary 24, the regular meeting of the Raymond Rod and Gun Club was held in the Town Hall All of the members were duly notified by mail of the impending meeting. Of the members notified (90) only 6 were present. It was then decided that, unless more interest was shown in the proposed activities of the Club, before the first of April a special meeting of the executive would be held for the purpose of disbandment.

GARDEN NOTES

Planning Will Help

It is good business, and a lot of fun too, to plan the garden well ahead of the time when one can actually get outside and dig. Especially where space is limited a little preliminary work with pencil, paper and a good Canadian garden seed catalogue will result in far more satisfaction. Certain plants require more room than others, some want full sun, some go in early and some cannot be planted until all danger of frost is passed. Then in the flowers, there are such points as coloring and time of blooming. All these characteristics are noted in the seed catalogue. They should be remembered in planning so that little things won't be crowded behind big things, so that there won't be long lapses without flowers or fresh vegetables once production starts.

Give Them Room

Seeds and shrubs or plants from the nursery are such little things that it is hard to realize just what will happen when full growth has been developed. The beginner almost invariably plants far too close together. Certain things like the small annual flowers and vegetables like lettuce, beets or carrots take up little room—two or three inches between, and rows about a foot apart are all that are necessary. But there are other things that will need much more room. Tall, bushy flowers like cosmos or zinnias, for instance, need a foot or two each way. In the vegetable line, corn, potatoes, peas, tomatoes, melons, cucumbers and such require plenty of room. If crowded there will be little space for the gardener to wield the hoe or cultivator.

With shrubs, ornamental trees and vines, space is even more important because these keep on growing year after year. The average shade tree will grow 25 to 60 feet high, and for proper, full development will need from 20 to 40 feet each way at maturity. Shrubs that have a mature height of ten feet need at least five feet between.

Growing Your Own Plants

Rather than purchasing started plants—in many sections of Canada this may be impossible or inconvenient anyway—many gardeners start their own in hotbeds or shallow window boxes. The former are merely glass-protected outdoor beds, where additional heat is provided by an underlying bed of fresh horse manure or hot water pipes or electric cable. The window boxes are shallow affairs, a couple of inches deep, placed in a bright window. The soil used should be fine and loose, preferably a mixture of sand and leaf mould. Seeds are planted in March and in rows about an inch apart. When the plants develop their second set of leaves they are transplanted to larger and cooler quarters and a few weeks later they are set outside. Ventilate and keep soil moist.

COUPONS ACCEPTED

Agriculture Minister Gardiner said in the commons the government still is accepting any ration coupons which Canadians wish to turn in as a step in providing more food for the hungry peoples of Europe. 2713

Girl Overcomes Serious Handicaps

LOS ANGELES.—Clover Kerr, 29, had to start life anew after she lost both legs and her right arm in a traffic accident here in 1937. But the difficult handicaps seemed only a challenge, for she learned to walk, ride horseback, dance and write—and now she is to become a bride.

The attractive Miss Kerr, whose cheerful attitude through a difficult decade has been an inspiration to her friends, will walk to the altar to become the wife of Clark Robert Taylor of Roseburg, Ore., at the First Presbyterian Church there.

After the accident she was in critical condition for weeks, but her friends say she never lost her smile and her determination to return to a normal way of life.

Says Potato Vitamins Wasted By Canadians

TORONTO—Every year in Canada there is more vitamin C thrown down the sink than the amount contained in all the citrus fruits we import, Dr. L. B. Pett, chief of the Nutrition division, Department of National Health and Welfare, said in an address to the annual meeting of the Ontario Crop Improvement Association.

Dr. Pett blamed much of this waste on the way potatoes are cooked. He said this important food is usually cooked too long, in too much water or at too high a temperature, with the result as much as half the minerals and vitamins are lost.

According to the Encyclopedia Britannica, there are three times as many women who live to be 100 than men.

Health League of Canada presents TOPICS of VITAL INTEREST

DANGERS OF BACTERIA IN OUR DAILY FOOD

Food is generally a good culture medium for microbes which find therein an easy and rapid way of growing, chiefly those which are responsible for infectious diseases, states Montreal's Dept. of Health.

Experience shows that some kinds of food products constitute for microbes the most favorable medium, for instance, jellied meats, pork, pastries with custard or cream (eclairs, cream-puffs, mille-feuilles, etc.). It is essential that these foods be eaten only when they are strictly fresh, otherwise bacteria are already present and this results in more or less serious cases of poisoning.

One must beware of foodstuffs which have been exposed to dust or manipulated by the public. One must remember that some food products can be soiled by germ carriers, insects or animals. Consequently, prudence is a good rule and needless to say that it is absolutely necessary to keep food in ice-boxes or refrigerators, the interior temperature of which must be 50 deg. Fah. or less, especially cooked meats, jellied meats, cream and fresh milk products.

FUTURE WAR COULD LAST SEVERAL YEARS

WASHINGTON. — Maj. Alexander P. De Seversky noted airplane inventor, believes any future war would last several years, regardless of the atomic bomb.

He said the bomb did not change the basic strategy of warfare. That, he said, can't be changed "only when we develop some form of death rays."

LADY PASSENGER WAS ANXIOUS TO HELP

Irvin S. Cobb once told of a nice old lady, enjoying her first ride in a taxicab. Going through heavy traffic, the old lady grew more and more nervous as the driver kept removing his hand from the steering wheel, putting it outside the car. Finally, the old lady could stand it no longer. Leaning far forward, she tapped the driver on the shoulder. "Young man", she said sternly, "you just tend to your driving. I'll tell you when it starts to rain."

CAMPUS CAPERS

by MISAE HIRONAKA

The battle is on! The first ballot seems to indicate that orange and black are not going to get into the constitution, but they have not given up yet. Mr. Redd tells us that the original tradition of the school concerning colors was purple and gold. He ought to know. He came to school at 4:30 a.m. to be the first student to enroll. From 1910 until 1921 the school, as the Knight Academy, won their basketball championships and were really tops under these colors. When the old Academy changed to the high school under the department of Education in 1921 the students decided to change the colors to black and orange. These were the symbol until recently when even they died out. The next ballot will probably b whether or not red and white are the preferred colors.

This is election week at the R.H.S. and that always means the fun and excitement of campaigning, orating, voting etc. The Returning Officer Bernice Dahl was elected Friday to handle the nominations. As yet there are none, but surely the students Union will wake up before Friday to nominate someone.

Entertainment in the form of Literary is on the way back. The grade 9's are going to sponsor a program this week. If they use even a part of their great reserves of energy and talent in preparing for this event, it will be a memorable day. Literary has been on the decline party because of the lack of a stage and partly the lack of interest of the students. We hope that this is the beginning of the road back.

Arlene Hudson Queen of the Ball

Against a beautiful background of a flower covered wishing well, eight lovely gleaner girls of the Raymond First Ward met to decide the Queen of the Gold and Green Ball and for the M.I.A. year 1946-47.

Gold identification bracelets attached to tiny gold ribbons were drawn from the well by each girl and Miss Arlene Hudson found her bracelet marked Queen. These girls all tied with honors for their years work, chose this way of deciding their Queen.

Wayne Tollestrup heralded the event and Bishop J.O. Hicken crowned the Queen. Small trainbearers were Robin MacPhee, and Pamela Shaw, with Richard Stone as crown bearer. The girls, lovely in their evening gowns included besides the Queen Arlene, Bessie Shaw, Lavon Fawns, Joyce Milnor, Lois Milner Hazel Cooper, Bernice and Thelma Pitcher who staged a floor show after which everyone enjoyed the ball. The beautifully decorated hall and the lovely flowers and evening gowns of the ladies added much to the evenings enjoyment.

A Need For Planning

THERE HAS BEEN NO grave unemployment problem in Canada since 1939, on the contrary, there have been acute labor shortages in many industries. It was feared for a time that when the armed forces were demobilized there might be a period of serious unemployment, but this has not been the case and reports indicate that the demand for labor has remained at a high level. There are few Canadians, however, who do not recall the difficult times which were experienced here in the nineteen thirties, and few who do not wonder whether such times may come again. Unfortunately it is not always possible for a country to control the underlying causes of a depression, but experience has shown that it is possible to avoid much of the hardship and distress which results from unemployment, by careful planning for the future.

* * * * *

Planned Public Works Project

One obvious way in which employment could be provided during a major depression would be through the planning of large public works projects, both by the provinces and by the Dominion government. Such a program would be in the nature of a public investment and would necessitate the spending of large amounts of public money. This subject has been considered by the Dominion government and plans for possible projects have been discussed. The plans have to do with the conservation and development of natural resources which are not being developed by other agencies, and with projects in the Northwest territories, the Yukon, Indian reservations and other areas which come under the control of the Dominion government. The work to be undertaken would include the development of natural resources, surveying, mapping, soil conservation, drainage, insect control and many other undertakings.

* * * * *

Would Require Many Workers

Such a program would require a large number of workers including engineers, scientists and unskilled laborers. It is estimated that public funds amounting to 700 million dollars would be needed to finance public works projects which, with the family allowances and accumulated unemployment insurance, would safely carry the country through a major depression. The raising of such a sum brings up the controversial subject of taxation and of Dominion-provincial agreements on that question. However, it is encouraging to know that thought has been given to the matter and it is, to be hoped that in the event of another depression some plan will be in readiness to prevent the misery and waste which arises from prolonged and widespread unemployment.

SWEETER TASTIER White Bread

RECIPE

Put 1 c. lukewarm water in bread bowl, add 1 envelope Royal Fast Rising Dry Yeast and 1 tsp. sugar, stir; let stand 10 min. Scald 2 c. milk, add 5 tbs. sugar; add 5 tsp. salt; cool to lukewarm. Add to yeast with 1 c. water; add 6 c. sifted flour; beat well. Add 5 tbs. melted shortening and 6 c. more sifted flour, or enough to make easily handled dough. Knead dough quickly and lightly until smooth and elastic. Place dough in greased bowl, cover; set in warm place, free from draft. Let rise until doubled in bulk. Punch dough down in bowl; let rise again until about ¼ as high as first rise. When light, divide into 4 equal portions; shape into balls. Cover with cloth; let rest 10 to 15 min. Shape into loaves; place in greased bread pans. Cover; let rise until doubled in bulk, about 1 hour. Bake in 425° F. oven for 15 min., then reduce heat to 375° F. Finish baking about 30 min. longer.

Personal Flag Of Princess Elizabeth

Princess Elizabeth took with her to South Africa her own flag. This is Elizabeth's personal flag, granted to her by the King and specially designed for her. Few people recognize it yet, as it has so seldom been flown in public.

The first time it appeared was when she launched the battleship H.M.S. Vanguard in 1945. This is the ship in which the royal party travelled.

The princess' standard has as distinctive touches a small St. George's cross with a Tudor rose on a white ground in the centre.

MONEY TURNING UP THROUGH BLIZZARD

DE FOREST, Wis.—Mrs. Clement Wolfe doesn't believe in fairies but almost everywhere she looks—under a pillow, behind a mirror, beneath a vase—she finds money.

Dollar bills have turned up in cupboards, little stacks of silver on shelves, and half dollars tucked away everywhere imaginable. In the one week Mrs. Wolfe found between $60 and $70 and she still is finding more. She blames it all on the more than 60 unexpected guests who spent from two to three days with her in a recent blizzard. They came by the carloads and finally by the busloads as their vehicles became snowbound.

When the guests finally were rescued they tried to pay their hostess but she would have none of it.

"But I guess some of them didn't listen," sighed Mrs. Wolfe as she lifted a dish and found a couple more dollars hidden away.

Helpful Diet For New Mother

1. A quart of milk a day should be taken either as a drink or in cooking. Not more than a quart should be taken.

2. Vegetables raw or cooked should be eaten two or three times daily. Fresh vegetables of every kind should be taken especially the leafy dark-green type.

3. Fruit, in particular grapefruit or oranges should be eaten daily. Fresh fruit is best, but if too expensive, dried or canned fruit may be substituted.

4. One egg, at least, should be eaten every day.

5. At least a quart of water should be taken every day. Tea or coffee is allowable in moderation but should not replace milk.

6. Cod-liver oil is excellent under the doctor's orders.

7. Laxative foods. Green leafy vegetables, fruit, especially figs and prunes, all help to regulate the bowels. While whole grain bread and cereal may also help as well as a glass of water taken first thing in the morning.

Fresh Roasted Peanuts!

Carloads and carloads of peanuts are now rolling into Canada from Virginia in the Southern United States and everyone is enjoying the thrill of having these marvelous fresh-roasted Virginia peanuts for a real family treat.

As we enjoy them we think of the friendliness of our good neighbors to the South and especially when they come from the far South where friendliness is mixed so much with the way of life.

Before the war peanuts came in from Northern China and the Virginia jumbo peanut was scarcely known in Canada because the Chinese nut was sold at so much lower prices that it pretty much captured the market but now that the Chinese nuts are not available, and Canada is permitted to bring in again the real genuine Virginia jumbo peanuts there is a very great treat in store for our people.

Peanuts are especially nutritious for children and they will be seen in many of the lunch boxes of children going to school and many an after-school lunch will be supplied by this very nutritious food.

The point is that Canada has been starved for good peanuts owing to war conditions and now that those big jumbo Virginias are available—fresh roasted—everybody will want some, in the shell, or salted. Grocers, candy stores, drug stores throughout the country are being rapidly supplied. Buy and take some Virginia jumbo peanuts home today!

Attempt To Reach Lost World Fails

The first recorded journey into the weird "lost world" of Central Arnhem, Northern Australia, proved fruitless for Patrol Officer Sydney Kyle who was forced to turn back by lack of water in his search for a mystery tribe which natives say are bound never to show themselves to white men.

The party reached what Kyle described as a "strange new land"—a treeless, waterless escarpment of rugged rock stretching endlessly into the distance.

They did not see a living thing under the merciless sun

Kyle saw what appeared to be man-made carved faces of rock towering 300 feet, which he believes may be a ruined ancient city.

He plans to return during the wet season.

NEW PATROL BOMBER FOR U.S. NAVY

WASHINGTON—The United States Navy recently opened the door on its newest heavy patrol bomber, the Martin XP4M-1, which packs a dazzling burst of speed in a pair of extra jet engines and a cruising range of more than 3,000 miles.

It is a four-engined craft which resembles a huge twin-engine plane because the jets are mounted directly behind two of the largest 3,000 horsepower conventional engines now in existence.

Capable of cruising at more than 200 miles an hour, the bomber can boost its top speed to "well over 350 miles per hour" with a flick of the jet power, the Navy said.

The new sky giant is equipped with tricycle landing gear, has a wing spread of 114 feet and is "very heavily armed". It was termed "one of the most completely electronically equipped aircraft ever made." It carries a normal crew of eight.

SUGGESTED SERVICE FOR TRAVELLERS

The "properly-equipped" railroad station should fairly jangle with nickel-in-the-slot gimmicks, and others that consume larger coins, exhibitors at the Coin Machines Industries, Inc., convention in Chicago said.

A traveller, among other things, should be able to get his shaving needs, a press for his necktie, a shine for his shoes (a nickel each), his railroad ticket, a toothbrush, a book, a horoscope, two flavors of ice cream, popcorn, and an electrically-heated hot dog (no mustard)—all by means of coin machines.

Miss Brandley is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Brandley. She is also a graduate of the Raymond High School and participated extensively in journalistic work at the school. She is a freshman at the "Y" enrolled in the fine arts college majoring in speech.

Everyone knows that it costs money to travel. Even if you own a car it still costs something to drive from town to town. Do you stop to figure this cost in with the price of articles you buy away from town?

It is only logical to assume that th merchants of your town want your business. They try to keep your business by stocking only the best, at the lowest prices possible. Personal service is yet another home town feature.

Only by your full patronage can they carry a complete and up to date stock. No merchant can keep buying new stock if the old stock is left lying on his shelves because the customers who could have traded with him, have gone to the city.

City merchants, contrary to current popular belief are not philanthropists. They are in business to make money. The more and the quicker, the better. With higher overhead and higher cost of living, how else can they make money than by charging more for the same goods and services that you can get at home.

Compare. Comparison proves that your home town merchants are willing to forego the delight of big profits for the benefits of your continued trade.

Platt's Furniture Store

My Week.

by R. J. Deachman

China moves down the rocky road to bankruptcy. Imports exceed exports by over five to one. Military expenditures of Chiang's Government account for 86 per cent of total expenditures.

The Communists have a budget of their own. Nearly all Chinese Government income is being eaten up in military expenditures. The value of Chinese money is slowly sinking to oblivion. The pity of it is that these enormous military expenditures represent an internal struggle, a war within the nation. The Communists are determined to have a hand in the government, the present rulers are determined that they shall have no share in it—so there we are.

One would think that on these questions there is always possibility of compromise. There isnt. Antagonism reaches a point at which both are ready to die rather than change their views. We have an illustration of this in Palestine today, the Jews hate the Arabs and the Arabs hate the Jews. Hate is a deadly thing and, in theend, it can destroy the mind of individuals, it may destroy nations, in time it may make civilization impossible.

Back about eighteen months ago I raised this question: "What is Canada's National goal? Should we seek full employment or a higher national income" It brought about an interesting discussion. Some were all for full employment, while others penetrating beyond the obvious, saw that basically a high national income is essential to prosperity. Our real problem is to combine the two, get a high national income and full employment.

Unemployment is a disease of civilized nations, it is not a problem in a country like Russia, where the people are desperately poor, where men struggle long hours at hard work for small pay. Unemployment comes to highly civilized nations where men earn high wages, wages which would be unbelievable to people in China, Japan, India. We have, at times, unemployment in Canada, the United States and Great Britain, countries with relatively high wage rates and salaries and higher standards of living.

Now why should they have unemployment in a country like the United States with the highest production per man of any country in the world and not have it in countries where production per man is at a low level. That is a question which is easier asked than answered. It looks simple, but is it If we know why it happens then we might have the answer to many questions.

Imagine a moving picture showing the pioneer settlers coming into the West, breaking up the land, building homes, there is no unemployment. Then comes a change, they produce more, towns and cities are developed, industry starts to function, railways are built and the earnings of labor increase. Then comes a financial panic, prices decline, there is unemployment, unrest. New political parties spring into existence. Then after a long time business picks up, good times are on the way.

I have stated in two brief paragraphs what has happened. Now turn all this into a moving picture such as you have seen on the screen time and time again. The first part shows everything as I have described it, growth, expansion, development then collapse. Now reverse the machine. Employment picks up again and we move back to pioneer days and everybody is happy, all are at work but relatively poor.

Who can tell us why this happens time and time again in our civilization? Sometimes the decline in business is stopped by war and after that we have inflation and another collapse. Here is a question for country editors, city men are too close to it. Men, at times, grow wiser in town and country, wiser than in the cities— whats your answer?

OUR COMPLETE SHORT STORY—

THE VILLAGE STORE

By CHARLES F. CLARKSON

MORTIMER JONES had successfully run a general store for over twenty years, and thought himself fully able to look after any situation. But he had no immediate reply when Tommy said, "Dad, what can we do? Mother's gone and asked Alice down for the weekend."

"You've got to understand," Tommy went on, "Alice is a city girl. It's not because we run a store; she knows about that. But she's used to smart, stylish shops. She's arriving tomorrow, and what will she think of this place?"

It meant a lot to Tommy to have Alice Payne get a good impression of his family. He'd known her ever since he'd been at college—two years now. When he came home for the summer and told his mother all about her, he'd never dreamed she'd write and ask Alice to come and see them.

Tommy took a long look around the store. He had to admit his father knew the business—it was by far the largest store in the county. Mortimer Jones had made a good living from it—was even considered wealthy by his neighbors. But it certainly wasn't "smart" or "stylish". And, he thought, the worst of it was, they lived right up stairs, with a stairway coming down from the back hall into the store. Alice would never understand.

Tommy's eyes snapped. "Dad, why do we have to live upstairs? When you bought that old Reeder house—the mansion, they used to call it—I thought we'd move in there. Instead, you rent it and stay on here."

Mortimer looked shrewdly at his son. Tommy was different from his older brother, Frank, who was a born storekeeper like his father. That's why he'd gone away to university to learn to be an engineer.

"Maybe you're right, son," he observed mildly. "Guess I am kind of old fashioned. Matter of fact, those city people who took the Reeder place told me they won't be back this summer. If your mother's agreeable, we'll move in."

Saturday morning Tommy took the family car over to the station to meet Alice. He'd had a hard time to persuade his mother to move. "It's too big and fancy for me," she'd protested, "and goodness knows what Della will say about the extra work. She'll probably leave." But he'd finally convinced her.

When Alice was comfortably seated in the car, he drove along the river road, letting her get a good view of the expanse of water and the rolling hills beyond. He turned in at the stone gateway of the Reeder place, down the winding drive—his father had always seen that the grounds were well kept up—and stopped the car in front of the empty house.

"This is our new house," he announced casually, "We're moving in next week."

Alice looked dismayed. "Why Tommy—I—I didn't know—I thought your father ran a store."

"Sure he does, but that doesn't mean we can't have a nice house. Of course," he added lamely, "that is—well—you might as well know. We'll be moving out in a few days, but right now we're living up over the store. I hope you won't mind staying there."

"Of course not, Tommy," Alice protested. "I'll love it. I know I shall." Tommy regarded her doubtfully.

Actually, Alice seemed to fit right into the Jones household; she was just that kind of a girl. She helped Mrs. Jones set the table, and after the meal insisted on going down to the store and being shown all around. Tommy wished she hadn't arrived on Saturday. That was the worst day in the store. His father and Frank and the two clerks were in their shirt sleeves, running all over the place, trying to satisfy the crowd of customers. Of course, Tommy always helped too, during the holidays, but he'd been excused tonight.

He was showing Alice the new cash register when his father approached, frowning.

"Tommy, I promised Ab Snodgrass he'd get that order of middlings tonight, but Ferg's gone off with the big truck and forgotten them. Would you take them out in the panel delivery? It's only a few miles, and Alice could go along for company."

"Sure I'll go, Dad," he replied quickly, "but of course Alice can't ride in the truck. "I won't be long," he explained, turning to her. "Would you mind? You can talk to mother, upstairs." Alice opened her mouth to protest, thought better of it, turned and went up the stairs.

Actually, it was quite a while before Tommy got back, after manipulating eight miles of rutted dirt road and handling the heavy bags of feed. He was tip-toeing into his bedroom to clean up a bit, when his mother called.

"Oh, Tommy! Come here a minute, will you? Tommy, I've changed my mind. We're not moving to the Reeder place."

"Oh, mother! You can't do that! I've so planned on it..."

"No," she replied firmly. "I wouldn't like it there. And Alice agrees with me. She said it would be a shame to give up a nice home like this to go live in that big place."

"She said that? By the way, where is Alice?"

"Oh, she's downstairs helping at the candy counter. Your father's awfully rushed tonight."

"Mother! She's not!" Tommy felt the blood creeping up his neck. "Surely father couldn't—wouldn't ask her to work in the store?"

"No one asked her," Mrs. Jones replied calmly. "She saw how things were, and asked if she could help. Said she hadn't been as happy in years. Seems her father used to run a fruit store in the city. When he died, she and her mother were left fairly well off, and closed up the store. But she's always missed it. She always worked around the store after school."

"Gee, Mother, I—I don't know what to say. Guess I've been an awful fool, trying to impress Alice with that big house."

"Oh, she liked the place well enough. But she knew I'd never be happy there. I'm going to tell your father not to rent it again. After you graduate, you're going to want a summer home—if you can find someone to share it with," she added with a twinkle.

Tommy's eyes were shining as he kissed his mother. "Thanks, Mom," he whispered, "I'm going downstairs."

MANY CANADIANS DIE FROM LACK OF PROPER FOOD

TORONTO.—More Canadians die in a single year from lack of proper food than from infantile paralysis, a report in the Canadian Medical Association journal stated recently.

Dominion statistics for 1944, the last year available for medical study, show that 42 persons died in Canada of rickets, pellagra, beri-beri and scurvy, each of which is a nutritional deficiency disease. The 42 deaths compared with 38 deaths during that year from poliomyelitis.

CLEAN SEED MEANS PROFIT TO FARMERS

All seeds require thorough cleaning and grading to remove weed seeds and offal, as well as light and shrunken kernels. Both experience and experiments have demonstrated the fact that the largest yield per acre may be expected from the use of large, sound, plump seed rather than from seed which has been poorly cleaned and graded.

In many places in Canada there are well-equipped seed cleaning plants available to farmers, but it may so happen that these seed cleaning establishments may not be conveniently near some of the farmers whose only alternative is to clean their own seed. The farm-sized fanning mill, however, can do a good job if carefully operated. Improper cleaning of seed is due in most cases to lack of proper sieves or screens, or to improper adaptation of the mill. Some of the weed seeds are difficult to separate, but most of them can be removed if proper sieves are used and time is taken to determine the proper combination of size and slope of sieve, shake, air blast and rate at which the seed passes over the sieves.

The labour of cleaning and handling seed on the farm may be reduced considerably where the facilities permit the elevation of the seed from the cleaner to an overhead bin. From this bin, the seed may be spouted back to the fanning mill for a second cleaning. It is necessary to run seed through a farm fanning mill at least twice, and sometimes three times. If seed is to be cleaned a third time, it may be elevated to a second overhead bin which is within spouting distance of the fanning mill on the floor below.

Russia Reports Perennial Wheat

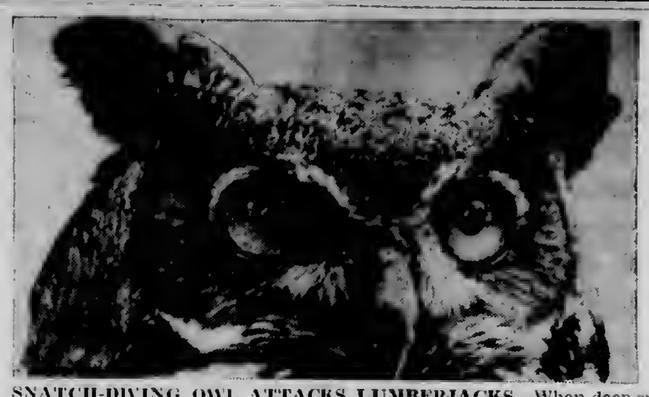

A Soviet agriculture research worker reported that he had crossed wheat and grass to produce a high-yielding perennial wheat, a Tass news agency report broadcast by the Moscow radio said.

Soviet agricultural specialist Nikolai Tsitsyn told the academy of agriculture that he had developed 11 hybrid varieties of wheat by crossing wheat and couch grass.

The hybrids inherited the qualities of the couch grass and grew well on any soil, even in dry years, he said. Last year his institute gathered a third harvest from experimental fields of the new perennial wheat sown in 1943.

SNATCH-DIVING OWL ATTACKS LUMBERJACKS—When deep snow cut off its food supply, an owl with a 54-inch wingspread took to dive-snatching at any likely-looking prospective tidbits. But this owl made the mistake of attacking lumberjacks at Lake Maggie, near Lizotte, in Quebec's Lake St. John-Lavernal country. The owl made off with six lumberjacks caps and was coming in for another when an exasperated woodsman grabbed an axe and felled him with a healthy swing.

No Count Of Imported Canaries In Canada

Trade and Commerce Minister J. A. MacKinnon doesn't know how many singing canary birds were imported into Canada during the past year. He said so in the House of Commons in an answer to a question by F. E. Lennard (PC-Wentworth).

Mr. Lennard had asked the minister how many canaries were imported into the Dominion last year, what countries they were imported from and how many came from each country. Mr. MacKinnon admitted he had no idea. Canaries aren't classified in Canadian trade statistics, he told the House.

First Tea Introduced In England Was Not Prepared Properly

When tea was first introduced in England, a lot of people disliked it intensely. The reason, says H. R. F., in Empire Digest was, that though they had heard it praised they had no idea how it should be prepared. Having bought some of the leaves, they boiled them for about twenty minutes, strained off the juice, and tried to eat them with salt, pepper and butter. In many parts of England people still talk, though as a rule humorously, of "making a dish of tea."

WOULD USE SUB FOR EXPLORATION

Dr. Harald U. Sverdrup, director of the Scripps Institute of Oceanography, University of California, wants to be the first man to cross the Arctic Ocean from Norway to Canada by submarine, for a long distance under ice.

Dr. Sverdrup who was in charge of scientific work with Amundsen's expedition into the Arctic in 1917 to 1925 and with Sir Hubert Wilkins' expedition in 1931, told the Royal Institute that he thought Russia was far ahead of Canada in developing its far north.

He said a submarine was the only way to explore the Far North. A surface craft in the Arctic has its route determined by drift of the ice. A submarine could pick its own route, dodging underneath the surface when ice is in the way. A submarine trip of four to six weeks in the summer would net as much information as it would take a surface ship years to gather.

FASHIONS CHANGING

Every new collection of fashions in Britain seem to underline the fact that the line of women's suits is changing radically. Jackets are getting longer—sometimes to three-quarter length; in fact, there is a return to the more formal line of 1910. But there is an interesting corollary to this. It means that hats must change if this silhouette becomes popular, that blouses must become much more feminine, that high-heeled shoes must be worn.

Government Cost of Education?

Some people believe that most communities in Western Canada are over-organized, that they have too many groups—social, religious, political—which pursue some special purpose and seek the support of the already overworked citizens. However, the recently formed Alberta Educational Council will get a favorable reception from the people of the province since its avowed purpose of securing increased financial support for schools is one that will commend itself to every thoughtful person.

The Alberta Educational Council has been formed to bring together many of the provincial societies which are interested in educational progress, and to get them to think and to act co-operatively in an effort to remedy the bad plight of education. These people have something—they are protesting against the old tradition of making land and shelter pay for the schools. We have got to the point where every little improvement we make in the child's training in our schools means a boost in the mill-rate.

There are just two things indispensible to our Western economy, viz. land to grow our products and shelter to keep us from being frozen to death. Why these two indispensables should have to carry all, or nearly all the cost of educating our children is beyond the understanding of most thinking people. The Alberta Educational Council has set out to change this by persuading the provincial legislature to follow the example of Ontario and British Columbia and pay 50 per cent of the annual cost of elementary and secondary education. Alberta is a wealthy province, it has most things that a farmer or manufacturer needs in order to succeed. Its revenue through general taxation shoul pay a much greater share of educational costs.

Saturday night last the Stirling and Raymond A teams got off to a slow start in a game that belonged to the Raymond squad all the way. Stirling went home feeling very blue over a 20 point beating.

Stirling and Raymond girls open the ball Saturday with a much closer game, for the first three quarters. Raymond girls rallied before the final whistle to take the game with a good twelve point margin.

The B squad played a three game series with Magrath last week and won all three games, having difficulty with only one. The first game was very fast with both teams putting in some hard work. But the final honors went to Raymond 22-20. The other two games, one each in Magrath and Raymond, were taken handily by the boys in purple by 7 points and 16 points. These games put Magrath B team out of the running and our own B boys well on their way to the crown.

Raymond Board of Trade Stresses Highway Needs

The Raymond Board of Trade met Tuesday evening in the Town Hall in their first meeting for some time. Under the Chairmanship of John F. Saimon president of the Board of Trade vital topics of business were discussed, foremost among them being the roads progra mof the government and how it would effect Raymond.

Resolutions passed during the session follow:

It has been resolved by the Raymond Board of Trade to stress verystrongly to the government concerning the hard surfacing of the undermentioned highways:

From Cradock through Raymond to the Welling corner and the Lethbridge through Welling to Cardston highways.

It is also resolved that there be a good gravelled road from the Sugar Factory Club House straight through to Coaldale.

These roads are in a very bad state of repair at the present time and traffic is practically impossible. They have been exceptionally bad this winter and at some times they were entirely of no use to traffic of any kind.

THE RED CROSS CARRIES ON

Our men and women back from the world battlefields often tell how the Red Cross was there to aid and comfort them—oftentimes to save their lives. Now the Red Cross asks those who extended such solid support during the war years, to help keep the Red Cross strong in peace.

Today there are thousands of sick and disabled veterans who need the continued help and friendship of the Red Cross. Isolated frontier communities need Outpost Hospitals and nursing service—their only medical aid. Crippled children's hospitals must be maintained and expanded. Men, women and children across Canada need the Blood Transfusion Service the Red Cross has started to supply.

Will you continue to lend your help to sick and suffering humanity? The Red Cross work is your work.

No Immediate Returns On Wheat Boost

WINNIPEG—The 30-cent a bushel increase in the price of domestic wheat announced by Trade Minister MacKinnon will not result in western farmers going on an immediate spending splurge.

Grain officials here said that the price boost did not alter the present arrangement whereby farmers were guaranteed $1.35 a bushel up to July 31, 1950.

It did mean that the money reserve in the $1.35 five-year pool, which protected the government against loss on the gunrantee, would be substantially increased. The farmer, through wheat participation certificates, would receive the 30-cent differential between the previous $1.25 a bushel for domestic sales and the newly-announced $1.55 in 1950.

While the increased price did not mean that farmers' incomes would immediately rise it did give them the promise of approximately $10,875,000 added money through the sale of domestic wheat still to be delivered to the wheat board during the balance of the present crop year.

Approximately half of the wheat board's estimate of 72,500,000 bushels for the current crop year has already been delivered, with the price increase announced not being retroactive to cover those deliveries.

Prof. R. C. Findlay, comptroller for the wheat board, said the increase applied to wheat sold in Canada for feed as well as for domestic consumption.

Western farmers, hailing the increase, estimated it would result next year in increased farm earnings approximating $27,000,000.

Housewives, meanwhile, expressed satisfaction with the clause in the price increase announcement which indicated no increase in the price of bread would result. Present bread levels would be retained through an increased government subsidy.

Canada Is Still Holding Enemy Property

OTTAWA.—State Secretary Gibson told the commons that assets held by the custodian of enemy property once totalled more than $1,000,000,000, but now had dropped to $350,000,000 as a result of settlement of claims.

He made the statement after opposition members made repeated requests that a report on the activities of the custodian be made available to parliament. Col. Gibson offered to consider the requests but said there were probably some phases of the activities—those dealing with individuals—should not be made public.

He also agreed to find out whether any enemy patents have been leased to Canadian firms by the custodian and what disposition will be made of royalties and shares accruing to Canadian individuals and firms from holdings in enemy countries.

Col. Gibson spoke before the commons adopted a resolution to a bill that would continue some of the wartime powers of the custodian. The bill itself was given first reading and then debate was begun on second reading to a measure that would extend some of the wartime regulations under the patent act.

At the night sitting, second reading was given to a bill amending the patent act and extending some of the wartime controls on patents. The bill was referred to the banking and commerce committee.

Also referred to the banking and commerce committee was a bill extending some of the wartime import and export controls to control the movement of goods in short supply both in and out of Canada.

Debate was begun on a resolution that would extend the powers the Canadian wheat board now exercised under order-in-council so that the Dominion might fulfill the four-year wheat contract with Britain.

At the house opening, Reconstruction Minister Howe said the government would confer with municipalities in an effort to have them take over operation of community centres now federally operated in wartime housing centres.

Col. Gibson said in wartime it was essential that enemy countries should not know what assets remained in Canada belonging to nationals of a foreign country or what assets of enemy countries were owned by Canadian citizens and held in this country.

"The same situation does not prevail today, but we do need these regulations in order to control enemy property that is in Canada and also to enable us to continue investigations that have been going on since the war ended to locate enemy property that may have been skillfully hidden or which was under the control of the enemy or their agents in Canada," he said.

U.S. COMMANDER PASSES—Admiral Marc A. Mitscher, 60, commander of the U.S. Atlantic fleet, died at Norfolk Naval hospital, Virginia, of coronary thrombosis. One of the navy's foremost advocates of air power, Mitscher was commander of the carrier Hornet, the famed Shangri-La from which U.S. planes took off on April 18, 1942, to make the first historic bombing raid on Tokyo. Later he commanded task force 58 during operations against the Marshall islands, Truk, Tinian and Saipan, when the navy began sweeping the Japanese out of the Pacific in 1944. He became chief of naval operations for air in 1945.

FOOD SHIPMENTS GO TO ROMANIA

WASHINGTON.—President Truman has acted to supply huge shipments of American food to Romania's northern province of Moldavia, where 500,000 are reported starving. The president laid down the condition that the food not be used for political purposes.

He directed 7,000 tons of food now en route to the United States army overseas to be diverted to Constanza, Romanian port, and asked the American Red Cross to supervise its distribution by the Romanian Red Cross "without charge and guarantees against discrimination on political, racial, religious or social grounds."

Ninety per cent. of all home fires are preventable.

Britain To Import Labor For Employment In Coal Mines

—To Use Displaced Persons

LONDON.—Prime Minister Attlee said that displaced persons in the British occupation zones of Germany and Austria would be classified for possible employment in Britain's coal mines and other industries short of manpower.

The prime minister declared:

"The minister of labor is proceeding to set up an organization in the British zones of Germany and Austria for classification and selection of displaced persons against the opportunity of employment in Britain."

Several London newspapers reported that thousands of displaced persons would be brought from the continent to work in the mines to relieve Britain's fuel crisis.

The prospect developed that meagre coal rations for British homes—now limited to an average of 100 pounds weekly—might fall even lower next month because of the efforts to reopen factories.

The prime minister's announcement followed a cabinet meeting at which the coal crisis and national manpower shortage were discussed.

The first week of widespread factory shutdowns and electricity cuts for five hours daily resulted in a saving of 202,750 tons of coal.

A spokesman for the ministry of fuel and power said household fuel stocks were down to a two-week supply in the London area and a one-week supply in northern England and Scotland. He said it was "possible" that allocations of 800 pounds for March and April would not be fully met.

CLOTHING PRICES WILL BE HIGHER

OTTAWA.—Canadians are going to be paying substantially more for their clothing as a result of withdrawal last month of the government's subsidy on woollens, worsteds, yarns and tops and lowering of the subsidy on cotton.

The prices board said the new prices will be on shipments made by manufacturers on or before Feb. 18 and apply specifically to men's and boys' fine woollen clothing, woollen work clothing and sportswear, and women's, misses' and juniors' coats and suits.

Although unofficial estimates placed the retail increases as high as 25 per cent., board officials indicated it was impossible to make an accurate forecast. The increases would vary with the cotton, woollen or rayon content of each garment.

No price increases will be allowed on made-to-measure clothes ordered on or before Feb. 17.

LOOT RECOVERED

FRANKFURT, Germany.—A two-zone search for precious metal and gems hidden by the Nazi government has netted diamonds, gold, silver and platinum, valued at $7,305,029, it was learned. The discovery of a master list in Berlin led to the search for the valuables, looted from occupied countries.

RAISING FUNDS FOR ARAB CAUSE

JERUSALEM.—Dr. Izzat Tannous, general secretary of the new Palestine Arab "national treasury" (Beit ul Mal), launching a national drive to raise £220,000 ($880,000) "for the coming sacred struggle," said recently:

"We are now at war — a war in which no quarter will be asked and none will be given.

"It will be a battle of life and death and woe to the vanquished."

Fifty per cent. of the total raised will go towards preventing Arab lands being bought by Jews. The other 50 per cent. will be used for "political" purposes of the coming "struggle".

Long-Lost Cousins Meet In Seattle

SEATTLE.—Never dreaming of finding long-lost cousins and boyhood playmates, Arthur Heagy, 61, Constance, Sask., on a honeymoon trip here with his bride, flipped the pages of the city directory to see if there were any Heagys. He found the name of Wesley H. Heagy, a cousin he attended school with 43 years ago back in Twin Brook, S.D., and later two of Wesley's brothers, Floyd and Lloyd. They all had a family dinner.

REFUSED TO SIGN AGREEMENT

U. Saw, former Burma premier and a delegate to the Anglo-Burmese conference in London, refused to sign the agreement and declared that U. Aung San, leader of the delegation, signed unwillingly. He said Premier Attlee showed "considerable impatience".

MAKES NO PROMISE ON RENT CEILINGS

MONTREAL.—Finance Minister Abbott told a delegation from the West-End Consumers league here he would do all in his power to have rent control maintained beyond its expiry date next month but that he could not promise rent ceilings will not be raised.

"As a minister of Canada I must be fair to all classes of Canadians... fair to landlords as well as to all other classes," the minister told the 10-member delegation headed by Mrs. Mary Taylor.

Mr. Abbott said he hoped that all parties in the commons will support the federal government in extending the war emergency powers for the maintenance of rent control.

The delegation asked Mr. Abbott for assurances that the government will undertake "a genuine housing program" to provide low rental homes for the low income bracket group and that he will refuse to sanction any rent increases this year.

THIEVES BUSY AGAIN

LONDON.—Thieves netted a total haul of jewels valued at £20,000 ($80,000) in two new burglaries, raising fears in Scotland Yard that Britain's "cat thieves" were striking again under cover of the blackout imposed because of the fuel shortage.

Seventeen new lifeboats are on order for the National Lifeboat Institution of Great Britain.

British Columbia May Sanction Compulsory Vote

VICTORIA—British Columbia may become the first Canadian province to have compulsory voting and registration for provincial elections.

A special committee, appointed a year ago to revise the Elections act, recommended to the legislature establishment of a compulsory system. A fine of not more than $10 would be imposed on persons failing to register, and provision is made for a registration card, to be issued to each registered voter.

Another major change recommended would extend the franchise to 4,000 Orientals, including East Indians and Chinese of Canadian birth naturalization and citizenship, to Indians, not resident on reserves, who served in the armed forces, and to Doukhobors who served in the war or were rejected for military service.

At the same time, the committee suggested only persons with adequate knowledge of English or French language be entitled to vote.

The recommendations for compulsory voting were made following study of the Australian system, the only Dominion with such legislation. In the last general election in Australia 96.7 per cent. of eligible voters cast their ballots.

The committee, under the chairmanship of R. H. Carson, coalition member for Kamloops, recommended that:

"A system of perpetual registration be instituted and that all residents of the province who are 21 years of age or over be required to register within 30 days of the proclamation of the new act. Persons failing to register should be subject to a penalty not exceeding $10 unless they have a valid reason for default. Persons coming to the province should be required to register within six months..."

The planned registration card would show the person's name, address, occupation and electoral district. Each card would bear a number, and persons not eligible to vote would be able to secure a non-voters' card of a distinctive color.

A new voters' list would be prepared, and all eligible would be required to apply on an application form which would bear their personal signature.

A central registry of voters would be established and all returning officers would hold permanent jobs and be paid a salary.

"Greater Syria" Plan Of British, Arabs Reported To Believe

Desert intrigue in the Middle East to create a "Greater Syria", which would guarantee Britain's superiority in the strategic oil area, is reported from Cairo. King Ibn Saud watches children of oil-field officials at a reception.

Arab circles report the British plan is to have King Abdullah of Transjordan, seen here, at the head of "Greater Syria".

Improved relations between Turkey, whose president, Ismet Inonu, is shown, and the Arab states is said part of plan.

Transjordan, Syria, Lebanon and part of Palestine would be included in intended British sphere, Arabs report, as they tell of manoeuvrings. Guardians of the Transjordan desert, these Bedouins are members of the famed Camel corps.

Soviet Russia Submits Atomic Control Plans

LAKE SUCCESS, N.Y.—Soviet Russia submitted to the United Nations security council 13 proposals intended to carry out its plan for separate international conventions to outlaw atomic weapons and to put atomic control under the security council.

Andrei A. Gromyko, Soviet delegate to the security council and to the atomic commission, demanded that the powers agree now on a convention outlawing the use of atomic energy for warlike purposes.

As the next step, he proposed that an effective system of control be established by separate convention "which must be administered within the framework of the security council."

This would leave the veto right in the council undisturbed and would run against the solid United States position that no veto must apply anywhere on atomic matters.

This convention, Gromyko proposed, would establish an international control commission which would carry out the day-to-day duties involved in international control. Inspection and control organs under this commission would make decisions by majority rules and the veto power would not apply in them. Their work, however, would be subject to review by the security council.
